Howgate's two trials and his conviction and sentence by Judge McComas at the second, is known by every one. An appeal was noted im-mediately and ball asked. The latter was permitted in the sum of $15,000. The terms of the bond were that Capt. Howgate should appear to answer the order of the court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. A. S. Worthington, one of Capt. Howgate's counsel, soon joined them, and after a brief conversation arranged to have the ball continued if possible, so that the accused might not remainin jail. General Miles, now in command of the bepartment of the East, will succeed General Scholled as commander of the army, When he will be detached from the Department of the East and ordered to Washington cannot yet be stated.

Assistant Adjutant General Vincent this

Assistant Adjutant General Vincent this morning handed Secretary Lamont the letter of Maj. Arrises to Gen. Schoffeld, with a commondation from Gen. Schoffeld, presumably explaining the matter and giving his side of the case.

Secretary Lamont said that he had taken no action in the case yet, and that he would take none to-day.

Gen. Schoffeld left Washington yesterday for Peele Island, Ohio, where he will spend a couple of weeks fishing and gunning.

Secretary Lamont declines to say what George A. Armes, whose arrest was caused by Lieut. Gen. Schofield, while he was acting Secretary of War. It is pretty well understood by those near him that be will back up Gen. Schofield by ordering a court-martial for the trial of Maj. Armes.

trial of Maj. Armes.

It is by no meries certain, however, that the Secretary entirely approves the manner in which the commanding general directed the arrest and confinement of Maj Armes. If some of his assistants reflects his views, Gen. Schoffeid's action is regarded as a little hasty. It would have been far better, most officers believe, if Gen. Schoffeid had contented himself with referring the letter to the Secretary.

No further action is expected by the No further action is expected by the War bepartment until atter Judge Bradley has passed judgment upon the legality of the arrest of Maj. Armes. The authorities do not relish the release of Maj Armes from military custody by Judge Bradley, and regard it as an interference with military prefokatives and discipline.

MANY COMPLAINTS FILED

Company Is Using Green Horses Which Cannot Stand the Work-Parons of the Road Call Official Attention to the Matter and Prosecution May Follow.

Charges of cruel abuse of horses are be-ing made against the Eckington Railway Company, and to-day several complaints from pairons of the line were filed with the Humane Society.

During the last few days the number

During the last few days the number and urgency of the complaints has been on the increase, and yesterday Agent Reipinger stopped one of the cars operating on New York avenue and unbitched one of the horses. A case will certainly be made, it is thought by the officers of the society, against the company.

The matter wait be pressed with all possible hasse. The officers of the society with whom The Times talked, stated that the company, with a view to economy, bought an outfit of country horses which were unable to fulfil the requirements exacted of them. These horses are what is technically termed "green," and immediately upon being put to their task fall away in strength and d'e.

BOUGHT GREEN STOCK.

BOUGHT GREEN STOCK. BOUGHT GREEN STOCK.

They cannot stand the strain put upon them. The charge is made that the company bought a poor and cheap class of these animals, and with them has been trying to give the public an efficient car service. The borres have dwindled in flesh and strength until now complaints are pooring in upon the Humane Society, urging that organization to take the matter in hand and bring relief to the dumb bruttes.

in hand and bring relief to the dumb brutes.

Agent Replinger was sent out on the case this morning, but had not rendered a report up to a late hour this afternoon. Mr. Pratt, the president of the society, had just returned from his summer outing, and as yet had found no time to investigate the matter, though the secretary had mentioned to him that numerous charges were being filed against the Eckington Company. They would receive due consideration, he said, and the offending company would be made to feel a shoulder blow from the strong arm of the law.

WHAT WILL-BE DONE.

WHAT WILL RE DONE.

The Humane Society, it is understood, will recommend that the railway company purchase horses suitable for our service. Patrons of the line are in arms against what they call the inhuman, brutal, niggardly policy of the corporation. They will continue to good the Humane Society to active efforts, and if the results produced in this way shall not prove satisfactory, they will carry the matter of these abuses into the courts on their own responsibility. The officers of the railway company profess to have recognized that their live stock is not up to the standard, and say that they have lorely head of competent horses on the way to Washington and that they have also ordered forty more.
